Chapter 33: Cersei wades into the Myrish swamp

The Tyrells unintentionally give Cersei great joy. Margaery demands that the naval fleet go to Highgarden to deal with the attack from the Ironmen. Cersei wants to slap Margaery for making demands. She views herself as the only true queen and thinks Margaery should be begging her on her hands and knees.

In any event the fleet is currently laying siege to Dragonstone, and Cersei wants it to stay there until Dragonstone is taken. Ser Loras offers to go to Dragonstone and storm the gates and take it immediately so the fleet can be sent to Highgarden. Cersei, delighted, agrees, hoping Loras will die because he is a Tyrell and she hates Tyrells, thinking

"No one had given her such a lovely gift since Sansa betrayed her father's plans to her."

Cersei was pleased to see Margaery, who realizes the same risk to Loras, turn pale. Cersei doesn't just want the Tyrells dead, she wants to see them suffer, and humiliated. She actually amuses herself by imagining Loras dying in battle or drowning at sea. Cersei thinks if Loras dies, Osney would have an easier time having sex with Margaery so she could then accuse Margaery of treason.

Meanwhile, Taena Merryweather is Cersei's "bed warmer". It all seems very sexual to me. One could warm a bed or a room with a fireplace or a piece of hot coal. Taena is such an obedient lackey that she actually says she will volunteer to turn herself into Qyburn for medical experimentation if she displeases Cersei.

"I want only to please you," said Taena earnestly. I think we have now stumbled onto the real reason why Taena is so obedient to Cersei. It's not about advancement for her son, which was first mentioned as a reason but never again. It's because Taena is a lesbian and is attracted to Cersei sexually. Don't believe me? Read on.

Her breasts were larger than the Queen's and tipped with huge nipples, black as horn.

Taena's younger breasts had not yet begun to sag, Cersei noted.

Cersei fantasized kissing Taena, suckling on her non-sagging breasts, and pushing her legs apart and using her as a man would use her, as Robert did. She remembered

"lying helpless underneath him as he took his pleasure, stinking of wine, and grunting like a boar.... he 'plowed' into her."

Whenever she would complain the next morning, Robert would say it wasn't his fault because he was drunk.

Ok, so now we're getting into revenge sex territory. Cersei was always furious with Robert for all the rough sex he had with her. Now Cersei wants to get "revenge" with Taena, having lesbian sex with her where she is the dominant one.

Time for rough lesbian sex with Taena! Cersei squeezed Taena's large Myrish breasts, and pinched her nipples.

"You're hurting me!" Taena cried.

"It is just the wine," said Cersei, echoing Robert. "I am Queen, I mean to claim my rights."

"Do as you will," said Taena.

Ok, at this point we can be 1000% certain Taena is a lesbian.

Her nipples were two black diamonds, her sex slick and steamy. The Queen slid a finger into the Myrish swamp, moving in and out.

Taena gasped and screamed, but Cersei felt nothing even as she finished Taena off. Cersei only felt good with Jaime. When Taena offered to pleasure her in return, Cersei told her to go away.

Why didn't Cersei enjoy sex with Taena?

- 1) Cersei is not a lesbian.
- 2) Revenge sex is no good when your partner is a willing participant.
- 3) Cersei is not a lesbian.

Meanwhile Cersei learns that Bronn killed the guy she sent to kill him. Worse, he implicated Cersei. A sobbing Selyse reports this to Cersei and Cersei comforts her, giving her the reward of being turned over to Qyburn for medical experimentation.

This is another dumb thing to do. Selyse is the senior heir of the Stokeworth castle. By having her killed (eventually) that leaves Lollys, Bronn's wife, as the heir. Cersei had Selyse taken away because she didn't want the story of her attempt to kill Bronn spreading. But Bronn already knew this story and could tell anyone he liked. Cersei, rather than feeling compassion for Selyse because her husband dies, shows she is very cruel by turning her over to Qyburn for torture.

Bronn, on the other hand, showed more compassion than Cersei. After Selyse's husband tried and failed to kill him, Bronn could have killed Selyse on the spot and made his wife the immediate heir to Stokeworth. Instead he allowed her to leave unharmed. Ironically a sellsword showed more compassion than Cersei in this matter.

The bottom line:

- 1) This chapter featured really hot lesbian sex.
- 2) There was no advancement of the plot.
- 3) There was no character development.
- 4) But there was really hot lesbian sex.
